

In our lives we are confronted with the decision to conform to what is around us or to become who we truly want to be. It is hard to handle at times and we become shattered in what we think and feel about ourselves. This show is the journey of finding the strength to become who we truly are and to discover that like the butterfly, we are all unique in our own way. As our Metamorphosis takes place in our lives, our hopes and dreams continually change and at times they may not conform to what those around us or society thinks is right. In the end, we are all uniquely beautiful like the butterfly. We should all be strong enough to find our wings and fly.
